BRIBERY AND TAKING OF BRIBES CHARGED

Champaign Man and His Son-in-law Among Several Under Cloud.

PROBE BY COOK JURY

Alleged That Director of Department of Education and Registration Grafted.

(By the United Press.)
Chicago, April 6.—Indictments charging bribery and acceptance of bribes in connection with issuance of state certificates to practice pharmacy, medicine and dentistry, in Illinois, were voted by the Cook county grand jury today, which investigated the fitness department of education and registration. Those indicted include: W. H. H. Miller of Champaign, director of the department; K. A. Fries, son-in-law of Miller; Dr. N. O. Borque, dean of the Chicago Medical college, and William B. Bonfark, druggist.

The grand jury investigated reports that certificates had been given to unqualified applicants, after they had paid from $200 to $500.

The probe was conducted under the direction of Assistant State's Attorney Charles Hamilton. Witnesses who testified before the grand jury, included several applicants who appeared before the state board seeking certificates to allow them to practice.

According to allegations probed by the grand jury, applicants for certificates to practice, when refused a license, would receive a notification of a "course of study" which would fill them to pass the examinations in short order. According to some witnesses they were guaranteed a certificate if they paid a large sum for this course. Several of them told of paying the amounts asked, and later receiving their certificates.

Prof. C. W. Foster Expires; Only Brother Died Tuesday

Charles W. Foster, prominent musician and critic, died at 8:30 o'clock this morning at his residence at 713 West Green street, Champaign, following an illness of ten days due to pneumonia.

He was born in Sheffield, England, March 27, 1864, and at the age of six years, came with his parents to Champaign. Following his graduation from the university in the class of 1874 he returned to Cambridge, England, to pursue his musical studies, becoming a pupil of the renowned, Joachim. While in England he attracted wide attention in musical circles as a violinist in the London philharmonic orchestra, and as a gifted recitalist.

Following his return to America he pursued the study of law at the urgent request of his father, Charles Foster, Jr., reading in the office of a prominent Champaign attorney, and later practicing for a brief period in Hannouti and Chicago.

Unwilling to permit the study and practice of law to supersede his chosen career he turned his whole attention to music, and thru the Foster school established in 1895, devoted his energies in a successful effort to build an appreciation for and development of ensemble music. Prior to establishing the Foster school he was identified with the musical department of the university and is credited with having organized and directed the first students' orchestra and the first students' chorus of that institution.

During his career he has developed the talent of many prominent teachers and recitalists among whom are Sol Cohen of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Myrtle Nowlin of Paxton, pupils who have graduated under Mr. Foster are successfully pursuing a musical vocation in many cities of America.

He was married to Miss Althea Burnap on September 24, 1894, who with two daughters, Alicebeth and Althea, survives. His only brother, Jonas C. Foster, died Tuesday evening.

FRANCIS J. ELAIR ADDRESSES LARGE ASSEMBLY FOLLOWING BANQUET.

The Parents-Teachers' association of the Urbana high school entertained jointly about 75 of its membership at a banquet at 8:15 last night at the high school. A program of talks was given with Mrs. C. H. Outbunt, president of the high school association, presiding, the speakers being Mrs. W. H. H. Miller of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois high school Parents-Teachers' association; Mrs. Laura P. Young, state president of the high school Parents-Teachers' association; Mrs. Simon Jones of Danville and Dr. Francis J. Blair of Springfield, state superintendent of public instruction.

Following the banquet a meeting was held in the school auditorium under the auspices of the various Parents-Teachers' associations about 300 being present. Mr. Blair, who addressed the group, said:

"I have the greatest opposition for this athletic idea that you can determine to the safety of a child's feet, namely, the future possibility of the child."

The parents as a whole, want teachers who will believe in their children and who will sympathize with them. On the other hand, the parents must have faith in any sympathy for the teachers; they should help them to fight their battles. Further, a dignified character is as strong as its greatest virtue.

Proceeding superintendent Blair's address, the pupils of the high school fourth grade gave a short musical program. Piano selections by Miss Helen Griggs proved a pleasing feature.

Burglars Make Good Haul In Champaign; Bloodhounds On Trial

The Vaughn haberdashery on West Church street, Champaign, was entered last night by burglars, who looted the establishment of several hundred dollars worth of men's clothing. The method of entering the store is also unknown, but it is supposed that they were locked in the building when the store was closed for the night. After securing their loot they flimmed the front door and made their exit.

Bloodhounds were put on the trail early this morning. They followed the scent to the vicinity of Nolan's garage, where it is supposed the burglars made their escape in a car held in waiting for the purpose. The store reported a similar robbery in January, when the thieves gained entrance by breaking a large plate glass window in the Hildebrand lobby.

OF A DISTINCTION SUITED TO THE MATRON

SHE is a wise matron who understands that the pose and assurance that belong to women who have left youth behind them, are properly expressed by brilliant and beautiful clothes, having the right amount of dignity and reserve. Sometimes these qualities appear to be confounded with somberness, and in this case the matron will slip into the commonplace. But this mistake is better than its opposite, which is a lack of discrimination that makes some women of middle life adopt kittenish styles that are ridiculous for them. The clever matron does not need to be a copyist of girlhood; she may dress in a way to make even youth envy her.

The fashionable fabrics play into the hands of matrons this season—in themselves they are dignified and rich. All the crepes and especially the heavier ones and the brocaded patterns, seem to belong to her. Gold and silver cloth, Persian and Paisley patterns in silk, jet trimmings, beads and other tringes, are at the call of the designers, and they revel in them. To suit individual style, they often elect to show what can be done with a plain silk crepe or other fabric, unadorned with trimmings and not combined with any other material. One designer's attempt of this kind resulted in the brilliantly successful afternoon dress shown in the picture. This is of gray crepe marocain, made with full panels of uneven length that fall below the hem of the underskirt. Each of these panels is edged with a bias fold of the crepe, the long sleeves are split along the upper arm but held to the wrist by a narrow band of crepe and their edges are piped with it. They are set in an underbodice which is revealed by a draped overhouse that opens at the sides to the waistline.

ACCESSORIES OF CHARM FOR THE WEDDING CORTEGE

AMONG other things that designers have provided for the coming of Easter there are very beautiful flower toques in which the shape is entirely covered with blossoms, or the crown is covered with them supported by a narrow brim of crepe de chine. Sometimes the toque is merely a mass of lovely blossoms and sometimes a profusion of loops and ends of narrow, pleated ribbon falls from the brim at one side toward the back. Many sorts of blossoms are used, usually in pastel colorings, and one is apt to find among them little berries. The ribbon makes an added touch of brilliancy when it has a gold or silver edge.

Whoever made a dream of loveliness come true in the flower toque shown above, must have had in mind the Easter wedding. Having chosen the most beloved of flowers, the designer refused to adorn the rose and made the toque entirely of magnificent full-blown blossoms. A beauty-loving world cannot have too much of loveliness, and so a muff to match was added. Nothing more enchanting can be imagined for the attendants of the bride.

One of the virtues of this flower toque and muff set is its adaptability and another is its simplicity. It is not difficult for the milliner to make and may be appropriately worn with either simple or elaborate frocks. A crepe de chine is shown in the picture with adornment of silver braid. Imagine it in periwinkle blue, the toque and muff in natural rose pink, and the costume will prove irresistible. But it is that in any of the lovely spring colors.

POULTRY CLUBS IN UNIQUE RACE

Hens Pool Efforts and Assist in Putting Boys Through Agricultural College.

REAL MONEY WAS AT STAKE

Contest Suggested by State Leader of Connecticut, Who Had Co-Operation of Extension Specialist of University.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Now honors are due "Biddy," the barnyard fowl, since 225 of her have pooled their efforts and are helping put three boys from Goshen, Conn., through Connecticut agricultural college. The hens, which now reside not far from the college, are doing a mighty good job too, for the boys know how to care for them. In fact, the boys' interest in college, hens as well, goes back to their membership in the Goshen Poultry club, one of two organizations that engaged in a contest intended to show what intelligent care can do in raising poultry.

Marathon Race.
It was a Marathon race, so to speak, that lasted over a year, the fowl taking place last October. And it was a race for real money, $1,000 being the prize. Strangely enough, both sides won. A net profit of $1,000 from each group of hens in a period of one year was the goal set for each club, and both groups cleared considerably more than that amount. Eleven boys living near Goshen (including the three now tending their flocks while going to college) constituted one club, and the other, known as the West Hartford Poultry Club, was composed of boys living near Hartford. The unique contest was suggested by the State club leader of Connecticut, who had the co-operation of the poultry extension specialist of the agricultural college.

Rivalry Between Clubs.
In a sense each club was racing against time to see if its hens, which aggregated approximately 400, could be made to produce $1,000 profit in a year. Naturally also there was rivalry between the two clubs to see which would make the biggest showing. Both clubs held monthly meetings at which each boy reported regarding his flock—the number of hens, the number of eggs laid, the amount of scratch feed and dry mash used. More than one boy received kindly but pointed criticism of his methods when reports showed poor egg production. At the close of the club year the West Hartford club had made a profit of $932.48, while the Goshen club did even better, with a profit of $4 a bird. Thus each club surpassed its goal by a wide margin.

Inspired by this success, the three Goshen boys have gone to college, taking their hens with them. The birds, all of which were raised last summer by club members, have been true to their trust, laying eggs more plentifully than the golden variety laid by the legendary goose.

MARKETING IS BIG PROBLEM

High Prices Must Remain Until Farmer is Able to Sell Produce at Less Expense.

Marketing is still the greatest problem farmers have to solve. Until farmers can sell at less expense and to better advantage, city consumers will continue to complain at the cost of living. The wasted labor, the wasted products and the extortionate cost of handling farm products are draining the farms and costing city laborers their hard earnings to live.

DANCE FIVE DAYS

AT RIO'S CARNIVAL Miles W. Vaughn.

(Unrevised Press Staff Correspondent.)
Rio De Janeiro. (By Mail.)—Imagine a mixture of the old New Orleans Mardi Gras, armistice night, the war county fair in Winfield, Kans., a section of the annual policeman's ball of Kansas City and a wild night at Coney Island, and you'll have some conception of the Rio de Janeiro carnival, which closed last night—rather some time after daylight today. To a Brazilian carnival is the "be all and end all" of each year. For 360 days the people may be content to lead a sober and somewhat melancholy existence, but on the other five—the carnival days—they make up for all they have missed.

Anybody who can answer how it is possible for a Brazilian to dance the Maxixe and the Samba for five days and nights without other amusement than beer and sandwiches, ought to be philosopher or scientist enough to tell what makes the howling derisive howl.

Newspapers had it figured out that the carnival this year would lack something of its former punch because of the year-long commercial crisis. They were wrong. Every gringo, rancho and balra was represented with increased membership, costumes more varied than ever and clever new songs such as: "Oh Minas Cheese" (I don't know why you are), or something or other about a dancing parrot. Hundreds of thousands packed the down town streets, keeping up a continuous din. Cabarets were crowded to capacity despite an advertisement charge of ten milreis, which to a Brazilian is equivalent to two dollars and a half. The manager of the High Life, a popular dancing club, says he sold 5,000 admittances and 3,500 quarts of champagne.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes thru the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms— which vary widely, but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the kidneys right the danger is overcome. Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

Henry Schumm, proprietor confectionery and cigar store, 501 South Neil street, Champaign, Ill., says: "Since I had my first signs of weak kidneys I feel lame across the small of my back, directly over my kidneys, when I have a cold. I can hardly sit down my back feels so weak and all worn out and when I go to get up I can only get up a little at a time. This trouble is followed by the kidney secretions being active and unnatural. A friend advised Doan's Kidney Pills and it didn't take Doan's long to cure me. My kidneys and back became strong again and have been ever since."

MRS. JONES' DOUGH.

President Harding, so the trustworthy press dispatches relate, went calling yesterday on a sick relative, and by mistake, got into the wrong house, where the good wife declined to see him on the ground that she was busy making dough. All hail the good wife, and all hail the day when we will all be so busy making dough that we have not time to entertain the president when he chances to call.

There may be some in their haste who will ensure the good dame who declined to leave her job to talk to a casual visitor, intruding into her domain by mistake. But not we. To our mind Mrs. Jones of Washington has epitomized a fidelity to her job which affords an example that the country could take to heart with marvelous profit to its hundred million individual component souls. Tho the president called, Mrs. Jones could not be diverted from the task at her elbow. Let him cool his heels in the parlor if he be willing to wait; otherwise let him be gone about his own affairs.

The continuity of purpose which seems to be imbued within the mind of this unknown and hitherto unsung Mrs. Jones, could well be emulated by all. It is a jewel rare enough to excite admiration and invite commendation, when displayed by any one. It should be distinguished from mere stubbornness with which the unanalytical and the hastily critical frequently confuse it. It is a virtue of the purest ray serene, while stubbornness is mere rigidity, unbacked by reason and unbolstered by adequate intelligence.

To stick to one's job is one of the hardest lessons for mankind to learn. The tendency is ever to drop the employment now occupying attention, and turn to something else, whose prospect appears more enticing at the moment. Not that one should never consider a change, nor contemplate any other course of procedure than the one originally determined upon. That is mere stubbornness and is as fruitful of error as the tendency to hop around like a flea.

The big successes of life are those which have resulted from the pursuit of the same objective over such period of time as enables one to accomplish the purpose in mind. The man who tries one thing today, another tomorrow, and a third on the next day, may accidentally stumble on to something good, but his chances of success are infinitely smaller than he who sticks to his bush, and devotes himself to the doing of those things where his taste lies, and his experience and knowledge have given him a sound foothold.

Youth, of course, is a period of experimentation, where the budding capacities and inclinations must reasonably be given an opportunity to function. But this period of uncertainty should not be for long, for the young man or young woman who expects to amount to anything must early in life make up his mind the direction he is to travel to accomplish his end, and set out as soon as possible on that journey.

Vacillation is ever costly. It is a weakening influence that quickly forms a canker on character, hurls the balance of one's life. Persistence, in reason, gains more battles than brilliancy. The capacity for taking infinite pains is characterized as genius, and this is nothing more or less than sticking to one's job. Do that thing well to which you have set your hand and purpose, and the future will take care of itself. Nothing invites confidence more than the knowledge that a person has succeeded in performing a given task.

Take the case of Henry Ford. Because he has demonstrated himself to be a marvel in the making and distribution of factory products, the general public naturally assumes that he is a wizard along other lines, and gives to his utterances about things of which he is comparatively ignorant, an importance out of all proportion to his knowledge of the subject.

That Henry would have better stuck to his bush, is evident to all who have followed his career. His wild-eyed scheme of the peace ship to Europe, to "get the boys of the trenches" by Christmas, 1915, showed how little his judgment was to be trusted outside of the realm of making and selling Tin Lizzies. His political career has been one long chain of continuing mistakes and wrong ideas. Yet his reputation as a wonder man in industry has been big enough to gain for him in the minds of the public a false notion of his wisdom along other lines. Henry Ford ought to stick to his bush. He ought to keep his mind on things on which he is an authority and a specialist.

If you would succeed, do the thing well that you know how to do—and keep on doing it.

PASSING THRU THE FLU.

(By Wayne Rea)

We cannot rest, our throbbing chest
And fevered brow won't let us,
We cannot taste, 'tis wilful waste,
To eat the food they get us.
We cannot smoke, it makes us choke,
And pains shoot thru our gizzard,
This consarned flu, we're passing thru,
Beats all from A to Izzard.

Our blithesome Bet is scared she'll get
The same that's come to vex us;
Whene'er we cough she rushes off,
And hides out to perplex us;
She will not stay, but runs away,
While pains fair rack our coco,
If not soon thru with this blamed flu,
We both will end up loco.

U. OF I. GOLFERS BOOK MATCHES

University varsity golfers will meet five teams during the early spring season, which opens April 27, according to George Davis, university golf coach. A tentative program has been arranged, in which matches have been booked up until May 10 definitely.

Three of the games will be played upon the links of the Champaign Country club, which has allowed the Illinois to use its course. The home games will be with Drake, Northwestern and Chicago universities. The other two, so far scheduled, will take place at Purdue and at Michigan. Captain Maurice LeBosquet, A. L. Novotny, John Fredericksen and Rial Rolfe will represent the university. The Indian golfers will also travel to the Western Intercollegiate Golf conference June 19 at Chicago, according to Coach Davis.

FARMERS' MARKETING PLAN.

Is a plan to prevent marketing, a holding plan, a plan by which grain can be kept off the market in an equitable way giving justice to those not permitted to sell same as those permitted to sell.

Instead of selling agents or agencies we want holding agencies, agencies controlling the easing upon the market of grain as imperatively demanded at a profit price.

Each township and state permitted to sell according to the amount produced. The farmers of a township must sell by lot, must be a partner ship, a plan by which the early seller helps the later seller settlement at the end of the year. If any is left over, it belongs to all in proportion to the amount marketed. Any plan that does not provide for the late seller will fail.

All grain must belong to and be sold just the same as if the man owned it all. There is no other way. No other way. Please try to start to think of some other way and see how far you get.

Don't we need an organization? We have them. Don't we need other men? No, just educate those we have. Help them to formulate a detailed, simple plan and submit it for acceptance or rejection.

Will the farmers co-operate? Only too glad to, they have been to school, they have had experience, they won't pay $10 to join nothing. Must have something to base their faith upon. Must deal with their own neighbors—those they choose.

Can we sell our grain? Could not with arms kept from it, shoot before starve, meat, grain, wool and cotton as necessary as the air? As cities grow, soils exhaust and the line of abandoned farms moves westward the demand must increase.

Who will say what the price shall be? It must be the cost figuring $1 per hour while enduring extreme heat, cold and wet, raising, from flood, drought and bugs, plus 25 cents profit. If not one of the 2,000 cars that go daily to all markets was withheld five days we would get cost. If not one car reached any market for thirty days all stock in cities would die and a sack of flour if it could be had would bring $10. That is to say that there is not one-twelfth of one full cent if we only had some brains to direct it.

If we could quit talking about "finance corporations," "membership on exchanges," "less than 1 per cent of growers forcing a price," "enlisting 7,000,000 one by one without a detailed plan," "claiming organizations have made farmers millions," when the actual loss in the two and one-half years' delay has cost them thirty millions, thrown millions idle, and paralyzed business.

Since grain factories must run at capacity production to prevent starvation in case of (breakdown) failures in many parts and since it is impossible to produce a permanent surplus (we never have) what we sell must bring same as if a shortage, overhead expense is the same.

Henry Ford not only fixes the price at the factory (farm), but fixes the price the dealer must get, the price the user must pay. Can we not learn from the most successful man ever on the earth? Ford would laugh at supply and demand affecting his price. If enough of any product costing $1 is dumped idiotically upon the market it will sell for thirty cents or less. We are proving it. The only remedy is a plan to keep it off the market.

If our farm papers would start a campaign of education showing up our errors in the past, teach us just what is required, and tell us how to get it, they would do more good in one issue than they have done in years. There is but one question worth considering, like when the house is on fire, drop everything until the fire is out.

AGREES WITH PRATHER.

Urbana, Ill., April 5.

Editor Courier:

Please allow me thru your paper to congratulate Mr. Prather for his courage in daring to express the truth as to the way our money is being used so freely by so many of our officials, who have a chance to get their hands on it. Unless we raise the young men and boys now on hand with more ideas of being fair and "doing as they would be done by," our country is sure to be a wreck. Could say much more, but if any will read the editorial of Monday, April 3, there is no need for me to say more, for that is the secret of all. We must have men who are honest, then our troubles will cease along that line. Too many are wanting to live without working and naturally they are devising ways and making lanes to get their living from those who will work. Throw them out and let them work or starve.

SUDAN GRASS PROVES MOST VALUABLE CROP

Interesting Tests Made at Kansas State College.

Not Only Good as Other Pastures, But Is Equal to a Silage, Grain and Alfalfa Hay Ration—Cows Held Up Milk Yield.

Sudan grass, when used for pasturing stock, is not only as good as other pastures, but is equal to a silage, grain and alfalfa hay ration, according to an experiment carried on by the Kansas State Agricultural college during the past summer.

Six grade Holstein cows were put on four acres of Sudan grass, July 1, and were not taken off until October 10. The cows used in this experiment were taken off of a ration of silage, grain and alfalfa hay, when they were placed on the Sudan grass. After they were on the pasture they were fed only a grain ration of corn, bran, and linseed meal in proportion to their milk production. These cows held up in their milk production throughout the summer.

The greatest significance of this experiment is that Sudan grass will supply pasture during the hot summer months when other pastures fail, and that cows on this pasture will yield as well as those being fed a regular ration of silage, grain, and alfalfa hay.

COMBINATION TOOL IS HANDY

Blades Made to Fit Handle of Hoe for Performing Various Tasks Around Any Garden.

When one gardener had the misfortune to break his hoe just when he needed it, he resorted to a tool more useful than before. He bent a piece of pipe to the shape shown, fastened the handle firmly with a pin, drilled another hole, sawed a slot, and fastened the blade with a bolt and wing nut. Blades were then made in various shapes, any one of which could be fastened in the same slot in the piece of pipe. Thus one tool did the work of three or four.—Elmer O. Tetzlaff, Cleveo, Ill., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Useful Combination Tool.

The word "alloy" is derived from a literal Anglicization of the French phrase "a la loi,"—"according to law." The phrase was transported across the channel in connection with gold or silver reduced in value by admixture with inferior metals in accordance with regulations established according to the law, but the English insisted on pronouncing the French "loi" as if it were spelled "loy" and finally dropped the second syllable entirely, thus coinciding the word "alloy."

UREANA POLICE OUT AFTER NIGHT PROWLER

Officers McKinney and Winn of the Urbana police force were called to 1001 West Nevada street at 10:30 last night by a report that a strange man was hanging about the premises. The prowler disappeared before their arrival.

HUFF IN PLEA FOR BASEBALL

A plea for support of baseball as a city, rather than as individuals, was made by George A. Huff, director of athletics at the university, before a meeting of Springfield baseball boosters in that city Tuesday night. Mr. Huff illustrated his talk with stories of his own days as a baseball scout. "I have been scouting for years," said Mr. Huff, "and I have learned that minor league baseball is not self-supporting, except where the manager sells many of his players to the leagues. The burden usually falls on three or four citizens. The system is all wrong. Let the many give whatever they can afford, and the loss will not be noticed."

Other speakers, some of them veterans of the major leagues, completed the program. The aim of the new boosters' association is to raise $6,000 to start the season in Springfield.

APACHES ARE VICTORIOUS

The Apaches, independent intramural basketball champions of the university, walked away with Chi Phi, fraternity champions, and the intra-mural championship by a lopsided score of 50 to 19 in a one-sided game last night at the gym annex. The Apaches have won the championship for the last three years.

Chi Phi disappointed many of its backers by displaying an unexpectedly weak defense against the speedy Apaches. Time and again the Apaches would shift thru the Chi Phi guards and work the ball under the basket for easy shots. The floor work and accurate shooting of Crossley, Pfeiffer and Gibson, Apache stars, was the outstanding feature of the game. The game opened with Chi Phi drawing first blood when Novotny ringed the first basket, but the Apaches evened the count a few minutes later and took the lead. The first quarter period was the most interesting part of the entire game with Chi Phi holding its own. From the second quarter on, however, the Apaches forged ahead and widened the gap that the game became a farce in the last period.

MARKETS

WEGONG-HILLS COMPANY REVIEW.

Chicago, April 6.—Foreign cables early this morning were lower, but closed 1/2 higher, compared to last night's close. Our market opened practically unchanged and during midday took sharp break in May wheat on account of further liquidation, but closed strong, wheat showing a net gain of 1/2 cent for the day, compared with last night's closing figures; corn, 1/2 cent higher, and oats, 1/2 cent higher.

Chicago reported sales of 200,000 bushels of wheat to go to store and Omaha reported 100,000 bushels wheat sold to go to Chicago. It was claimed that arrangements have nearly been completed whereby Germany is to receive a loan of 25,000,000 pounds from Argentina with which to buy Argentine grain and meals. Commenting on this Logan & Bryan say the report that Germany is about to secure a loan from the Argentine government in the trade here on the theory that further buying by that country will be diverted from North America to the Argentine. Wheat is a world proposition and if any importing country of Europe is able to arrange finances for the purchase of larger quantities of grain, it is anything but a barish argument, regardless of where the buying takes place. LaCount whed Stoh Abeln from Concordia, Kan., that wheat in south central Nebraska is very spotted and lots of very thin fields. Some acreage is being sown to barley. Wheat improves coming south into Kansas, but the crop in general is very late and we must have frequent rains as there is no submature. There is sufficient moisture for present needs and crops will show up well for some time, but will deteriorate rapidly if we get the usual dry weather during May.

The government crop report on winter wheat average, condition, etc., will be issued at the close of the market Friday afternoon.

PRACTICE OF BRIDGE GRAFTING OFTEN SAVES INJURED AND DISEASED TREES

How a Wound Is Repaired by Bridge Grafting. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bridge grafting, the use of scions or small limbs to connect the cambium above and below a large wound or girdled strip, may be practiced successfully on almost any kind of fruit tree that can be propagated readily by grafting. Trees girdled by mice or rabbits, suffering from mechanical injuries, or from blight or other disease, can be saved in many cases by bridge grafting. The method also is useful when large areas of bark have been killed by sun scald and other injuries.

Effective Grafting. To be effective, bridge grafting should be done in the spring, before growth starts, though sometimes it can be done after growth starts if dormant scions for the purpose can be secured.

Prepare the wound in the tree by cutting away all dead tissue and thoroughly cleansing the injured parts. If possible, sterilize by washing with a solution of bichloride of mercury, copper sulphate, or some other antiseptic. The irregular edges of the bark above the girdle tract or wound should be cut back into an even edge, far enough to make certain that healthy cambium is under the bark.

For the grafting, select scions from wood of the previous season's growth, either branches, which grew the preceding season or water sprouts that are only a year old. The scions should be a little longer than the space which is to be bridged, so they will arch slightly over the central part of the wound.

Bevel the scions at each end on the same side of the scion with a long sloping cut so that the wedge-shaped ends thus formed will be relatively thin and permit their being thrust well under the bark without danger of separating it unduly from the cambium at the points of insertion. The placing of the scions will be facilitated if the bark at the margins of the wound is slit for a short distance at the points where the ends are to be inserted.

Importance of Unting Cambium. In placing the scions it is of the greatest importance that the cambium of the scions which is exposed in the dovetail cuts at the ends be brought into intimate contact with the cambium that lies under the bark at the margins of the wounded area. The union of scion and tree can occur only where the cambium layers of the two come together. The scions may be secured in their proper positions, if need be, by driving a small nail through each end into the trunk. This will aid in drawing the cambium of scion and trunk closely together.

The operation is completed by thoroughly covering the area occupied by the ends of the scions and the margins of the wound with grafting wax, strips of waxed cloth, or by some other means that adequately will prevent these parts from drying out. Some operators cover the entire wound, scions and all, with melted wax. Where the bridged portion is below or near the ground many operators conserve moisture by covering the grafts with earth.

Bridging From the Ground. Where the wound is so large as to make ordinary bridge grafting impossible, another method of bridging may be used. Two-year-old trees are planted about the base of the injured tree and their tops grafted into its trunk above the girdled space, which has first been cleaned as in the other method. As the tops of the small trees are too large to manipulate readily in the manner described for scions, Y-shaped vertical grooves extending through the cambium are cut just above the wounded area in the bark of the tree to be treated. The tops of the small trees are shaped to correspond with these grooves. The two are then accurately fitted together in such a manner as to bring the cambium of one into contact with that of the other. Small nails may be driven through the tops of the trees into the trunk, to hold the parts firmly together. The wounds incident to joining the tops of the small trees to the trunk of the large one should be well covered with wax, to prevent drying out. Sometimes cord is tied around the trunk to aid in holding the tops of the young trees in proper position.

ERADICATE BARBERRY TO SAVE GRAIN CROP

Common Plant Has Long Career of Crime Behind It.

Weed Has Destroyed Billions of Bushels of Wheat and Other Grains in Past—Wheat Is Valuable and Needed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If you saw an anarchist with a blazing torch in his hand sneaking through the grass to your ripe wheat field, intending to set it on fire, what would you do? If you saw several of his companions in crime sneaking to your granary with oil and matches, what would you do? If you saw a mob of wild-eyed anarchists running amuck with firebrands and destructive intent, what would you do? You would shoot the first, you would shoot as many of the small group as you could, and you would call for help to exterminate the whole breed.

The common barberry is a red-handed anarchist bush. It has a long career of crime behind it. It has a long and more terrible career of crime before it if we don't put a stop to it. It has destroyed billions of bushels of wheat and other grains in the past. It will destroy billions of bushels in the future unless we destroy it. Don't mark destroyed the common barberry and stopped the stem rust. Many farmers in this country have destroyed their own bush and rescued their crops from ruin by the rust.

The United States department of agriculture and the grain-growing states are eradicating the common barberry. Are you for it or against it? We cannot save the wheat and keep the barberry. The wheat is valuable and needed; give it a chance. The common barberry is not valuable and can be replaced by the beautiful Japanese barberry.

Write to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for information on how to do it.

THE SPRING WRAP AN IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION

A NEW spring wrap and a new spring hat, what more could one wish for? It matters not which way the wind blows, weather's caprice cannot affect the happy possessor of a smart new coat. The present day wraps are a joy to womanhood, with their roomy sleeves and "comfy" collars, which are so adjustable to circumstances.

A coat is known by its lining. There is real satisfaction in having a coat that is attractive inside and out. Rich linings of crepe de chine and canton crepe in vivid red, jade and turquoise enliven some of the neutral-toned top coats. The tendency for crepe-like weaves in linings is very apparent this season.

As to fabrics, an outstanding new weave is called velvyn. Cashmere, suede cloths and ducryn are again popular and one hears much of kashu cloth and krepeknit.

Straight-line coats, with their greatest fullness above the waist, are favored types. In fact the house is crowded to such an extreme in some instances, it shows the cape influence.

Solid colors are of excellent selection in high-grade garments and the new ideas range especially in camel and deer shades. There is decided favor expressed for wood tans and all light-toned weaves, but coming with these is the announcement that navy blue is especially good. This is an important note, for, as most of us know, for several seasons navy has been relegated to the background.

One makes no mistake in buying a coat along the lines of the one featured in the accompanying illustration. It is of deer-colored velvyn. Note the single button fastening, which is indicated in a majority of the advance models, together with the cape effect

MILLINERY IN BEWITCHING SPRING-LIKE COLORS

THE new millinery colors are as inspirational as flowers in springtime. To repeat their very names has a happy effect; for instance there is apple green, larkspur blue, periwinkle, lettuce green and almond, rose tones, violet and orchid, sage green, partridge brown and daffodil yellow, making special mention of dandelion yellow (the French call it dent de lion).

In fact all the leading fashion revues are casting yellow in a stellar part. The wearing of daffodil hats and all solid yellow flower toques is prophesied.

The latest is for earrings and bead necklaces to match the hat. In this vogue the chapeau is usually a solid sage green, sapphire blue, or perhaps scarlet. At least the idea is, to have the hat in a single pronounced shade, and to match the jewelry thereto. One has no idea of the effectiveness of this fashion until one sees it in actuality. This is especially charming when carried out with a very simple crepe or satin frock in navy, black, or perhaps sand color, as a foil to the high colored accessories. That little hat in the top circle is of apple green tucked taffeta. The existing popularity of felts is expressed in the orange colored felt with white yarn balls. A navy-blue sailor, faced with white straw plaque, is shown in the third circle.

The incoming vogue for wide brims is set forth in the hat with bag. It is amber-brown, faced with sapphire straw plaque and amber braid is patterned on bag to match. There are also little amber beads. The bag shows sapphire lining. The vogue for millinery sets leads to designs which include, sometimes, not only bags but neck pieces and girdles to be worn with the frock. In this way the idea of a bright color, note with somber frocks is carried out.

Yeast users: This new pure yeast does not cause gas!

Yeast users troubled by weak, disordered or delicate stomachs will find gratifying relief in Yeast Foam Tablets. They have all the tonic value of baking yeast—and this great advantage: They do not cause gas or belching.

"I can't eat yeast; it upsets my stomach."

"I'd like to be able to eat yeast, for I know how much it would help me, but I simply cannot eat it."

"It upsets my stomach, fills me up with gas and causes me terrible distress!"

How often we have all heard those familiar words!

Especially from people who have weak stomachs and chronic indigestion.

Baking yeast does cause gas

The fact of the matter is, of course, that the common baking yeast does cause fermentation.

If it didn't it wouldn't be baking yeast, because the chief purpose of baking yeast is to generate gas so that the bread will be full of "gas holes" and therefore light and fluffy.

This new yeast doesn't cause gas

For those thousands of people who would eat yeast for its splendid health-building properties—if they only could—we have good news!

Yeast Foam Tablets do not cause gas. And this further news: that these tablets are pure whole yeast and that they have all the therapeutic and tonic properties of baking yeast.

High vitamin content in small dose

Yeast Foam Tablets contain no drugs or other ingredients.

They are from 4 to 5 times as concentrated as the ordinary baking yeast which insures the necessary vitamin potency in a much smaller dose!

Every lot of Yeast Foam Tablets is carefully tested and proved to possess a high and uniform vitamin power.

Extraordinary advantages of Yeast Foam Tablets

The only pure, whole yeast in easy-to-take tablet form.

They contain no drugs or other ingredients.

They do not form gas nor cause belching.

They are the only pure, whole yeast suitable for children; they do not cause fermentation.

Each lot is tested to insure high and uniform vitamin potency.

Yeast Foam Tablets

the only pure whole yeast in convenient tablet form

What to take

Yeast Foam Tablets for

At the first signs of vitamin deficiency—loss of appetite; indigestion; loss of weight and physical endurance; anaemia; unhealthy skin; constipation; nervousness, etc.—get a bottle of Yeast Foam Tablets from your druggist and take them regularly for a few weeks.

You will be agreeably surprised at their prompt and notably tonic effect on the whole body.

Made by makers of Yeast Foam

Yeast Foam Tablets are made, and guaranteed, both as to purity and vitamin content, by the Northwestern Yeast Company—the world's largest manufacturers of dry yeast and the makers for 45 years of the famous baking yeasts, Yeast Foam and Magic Yeast.

They are sold by druggists everywhere.

Avoid untested "vitamin products"

The great popularity of yeast and its remarkable health-building properties have been seized by patent medicine manufacturers, many of whose products are untested and do not possess enough yeast to have sufficient vitamin potency.

When taking yeast, be sure to get it in its purest and most potent form.

To the medical profession

Yeast Foam Tablets meet your requirements; they are what you've been looking for; they have all the tonic properties of baking yeast—and this big outstanding advantage: they do not cause fermentation.

Answers Questions

"What Is The Gospel?"

What is the gospel?

Mr. Shepherd, speaking at the Plymouth Community church at Grove and Fifth streets, Champaign, answered this question Tuesday night to a large audience. He said:

"The gospel is the good news of the birth, burial and resurrection of Christ, which, if accepted, will save sinners." A few of his statements were as follows:

"Without faith it is impossible to please God.

"If you don't believe that Jesus died for you, then you are living up with the anti-Christ.

"Some men today, are willing to die for good men, but Christ died for wicked men."

Japanese Want

To See The Babe

(By the United Press)

San Francisco, Cal., April 5.—Herb Hunter, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, hopes that major league fans will next season be throwing their hats in the air and shouting wildly for Teddy Kuhn, Japanese shortstop.

Hunter recently arrived here on his return trip from Japan, where he has been coaching baseball at a Japanese university. Hunter says that he intends to recommend to Manager Kieck of the Cardinals that he sign Kuhn, who plays on the ball teams of Waseda university, the largest university in Japan.

"He is one of the finest shortstops I have ever seen," said Hunter, "and swings a mean stick at the plate. I believe he would be a sensation in either of the big American leagues."

Hunter is planning to ask permission of Baseball Commissioner Landis to organize a team of major league stars following the close of the season to go to Japan to play the university teams there. Hunter says he has been guaranteed $50,000 and expenses for bringing such a team to the orient. There is only one condition to the offer—the team must include Babe Ruth and George Kelley, home run kings. The Japanese, he says, are wild about Ruth and Kelley.

The importation of Hunter's proposed team has the backing of the Osaka Mainichi Shimbun, the greatest newspaper in Japan. Hunter says the United Press reports of Ruth's homers which are flashed to the Japanese papers during the ball season are watched as closely by the Japanese fans as by the American ones.

According to Hunter's schedule, 12 games have already been arranged in Japan, and four in Manila. He says he has already tentatively lined up Kelley, Art Nehf, Harry Holtman, Frank Fitch, Frank Schneider, Earl Smith and Ross Young for his team. He hopes to land Babe Ruth. In the past ball teams of the University of California, University of Chicago and Stanford university have gone to the islands on exhibition games and have done much to popularize the game.

SQUAD WILL LEAVE FRIDAY

Leaving the soaked and sodden Illinois field still under water, Coach Carl Lundgren and his baseball squad will pack up their paraphernalia and entrain for the long awaited southern trip Friday. In direct contrast with atmospheric conditions here, weather reports from the south state that ideal baseball weather prevails in Mississippi and Alabama, where the team will camp.

Probably 14 or 15 men will comprise the team on its hunt to Dixie-land, although the names of the men will not be known until after final practice. No player is absolutely sure of making the trip. Coach Lundgren is pitcher of the freshman squad last year, and Otto Vogel, the Babe Ruth of the Big Ten, have resumed practice after having the kinks taken out of their limbs by Bonecracker Recce.

Illinois will play several games with southern universities while on the road. The University of Mississippi, Mississippi agricultural and mechanical college, and the University of Alabama are on the Indians' schedule for one or more games. The trip will last only ten days, so that the team will return in time to play two games with Wabash college April 18 and 19, at Urbana.

CITIZENS WILL MAKE DECISION

Decisions of the Twin Cities will determine whether a daylight saving law will be put into effect in the university district, according to action taken Tuesday by the council of administration at the university. Petitions circulated among students by a committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce are being held over by university authorities until Twin City officials have investigated and decided the question.

Altho no attempts toward the acceptance of such a measure have been made in Urbana, it is believed that the matter of daylight saving will be put before Champaign at the polls on May 1. No action was taken by Champaign's city council when a petition for daylight saving from June 1 until October 29 was presented last Monday.

SAVOY

Savoy, Ill., April 6.—Prayer meeting is being observed in the local church this week with a service each evening. Rev. C. R. Morrison is in charge and invites the public to attend as many as possible of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Packler and daughter, Helen, attended the evangelistic services in the Methodist church in Champaign on Saturday evening.

By mistake the meeting of the Sunshine club dated for Thursday afternoon was reported postponed. There was a splendid meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Waterson. Mrs. Wallace Parquar, Mrs. Martin Waterson, Mrs. Clyde Collins and Mrs. Cecil Waterson, members of the club and Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Guffy of Urbana and Miss Ruth Waterson, guests, attended. A luncheon consisting of sandwiches, pineapple sherbet, chocolate cake and coffee were served. Mrs. Cecil Waterson will entertain the club on Thursday afternoon, April 13.

Members of the Home Bureau are requested to note the change in the time of the annual meeting, which will be held on April 14 instead of the 21st as announced. The place of the meeting will probably be the University Place Christian church. Instead of having some organization serve the dinner each one attending will take sandwiches, covered dish, and her own table service. As usual Savoy hopes to report at this meeting, a 100 per cent paid membership. All those who have not yet paid are requested to pay before the 14th if possible. Miss Pearl Hammersmith, treasurer, or any other officer will gladly accept dues.

Miss Lenore Hammersmith, who has been ill for several days, was slightly improved on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coulter and daughter of Tolono were local callers on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Johnson and children of Champaign moved on Wednesday into the Baker property just west of the blacksmith shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coulson and son, Loren, returned on Wednesday from Farina, where they were called by the critical illness of Mr. Coulson's mother.

Two election booths were erected here on Tuesday to accommodate voters in both Champaign and Tolono townships. As only one ticket was in evidence in Champaign township, very little interest was taken. There were only 42 votes cast. There was more excitement on the Tolono side, as two tickets were out and much rivalry was shown in the competition for road commissioner. The Tolono board consisted of Elmer Fisher, William McMahon, Sr., George Pettiferro, Mr. Reiffsteck, Edward Dadey and Thomas McMahon. Sr. The Champaign board consisted of Arthur Hammersmith, Nathan Burt, Sr., Willis Sampson and John Clancy.

Mrs. Jesse Roylen with her quilling on Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dillman of Champaign spent Tuesday afternoon here with Mr. and Mrs. William Dillman, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Long moved on Wednesday to the Koller farm south of here, where they will work this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fisher and son spent Tuesday afternoon in Tolono with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson.

Miss Pearl Hammersmith and Charles Collins spent Sunday afternoon in Champaign with Mrs. Don Gates, who is recovering from a minor operation.

Mrs. Jane Galbreath transacted business in Sidney on Tuesday.

Mrs. Louis Burwash has returned from a winter spent in Albuquerque, N. M., where she went to regain her health.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Blaine spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Groin.

Mrs. Joanna Clark has been ill this week with bronchial trouble.

Mrs. Martha Hodgson has returned from a week's business trip to Alton and will remain through the summer with Mrs. Howard Whitegarner.

Dad and George Besore were business callers in Tolono on Tuesday afternoon.

Ancient Ideas About Toads

"A toad is a manner of vomit frog," so an ancient writer informs his readers. "In the right side of a frog is a bone that could boiling water if it be thrown into it, and the bone cannot be reheated unless the bone is first removed. Toads, indeed, are so poisonous that, if you put a toad in a new earthen jar and bury it in cornmeal, there is a danger of its tempests or storms there."

CONFERENCE IS SUCCESS

Nine of the twelve religious leaders who have been conducting the third annual recruiting conference of the university have left the Twin Cities after giving 250 personal interviews on the question of life and Dr. L. F. Heilmann, A. E. Sloan and E. A. Worthington will remain in the city to interview 25 more students.

Officials of the university churches, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. expressed great satisfaction over the results of this conference which closes officially this evening. The number of interviews exceeded all predictions that had been made.

Half-hour interviews were given to every student who wished to consider his life work. Special emphasis was laid on the opportunities and openings at home and abroad for Christian leadership. Students were allowed to interview leaders of their own denomination and leaders who were specially trained in some particular calling.

The Methodist team of leaders has gone to Ohio State university to conduct similar interviews.
